

Navigating Multinational Risks

Understanding Complex Multinational Risks

Increase your knowledge of complex Multinational risks with this advanced, instructor-led course designed to strengthen your understanding of captive solutions.

ADVANCED Module 1

Please contact your AIG Client or Broker Engagement Leader for information about availability in your region.

Introduction to Captives and Captive Fronting

This is the first of three modules in AIG's advanced-level training curriculum, Understanding Complex Multinational Risks, and provides an in-depth overview of captives and fronting solutions. The instructor-led course is offered in person or via webinar and builds upon our existing suite of complimentary and accredited insurance training that addresses the ever-evolving complexities of Multinational risks.

After completing the Introduction to Captives and Captive Fronting course, you should be able to:

- Explain what a captive insurance company is and the different types of captives
- Clearly articulate the benefits and challenges that should be considered when forming a captive
- Explain what a front is and why one is needed
- Describe the roles and responsibilities of the client, broker, insurer, and captive when fronting business to a captive
- Describe the different captive program structures and the value they create for clients
